

Study program: Tourism and hospitality
Course name: Tourism geography
Professor: Full professor Naume J. Marinoski, PhD
Subject status: compulsory course
ECTS: 6
Requirement: no requirements
Aim of the course
The aim of the course is to familiarize the students with geographical and tourism position of Serbia, its natural and anthropogenic tourist values as well as with tourist overturn in Serbia. Special attention will be placed on tourist regions and locations in Serbia as well as on perspective of tourism development in Serbia.
Outcome of the course
After successfully completing the course, students will be able to: understand the generative and attraction potential of emissive and receptive regions in tourism, understand the importance of tourism values and understand the most important flow of tourism activities in the world. Students will be able to understand the importance of general and special planning for development of tourism, differentiate and properly interpret characteristics of different traffic groups in tourism.
Content of the course
Theoretical lectures
Introduction to tourism geography; Generative potential of emissive regions; Attraction potential of receptive regions; Tourism values; Tourism valorization of space; Inter-regional tourism flows; Regionalization and typology of receptive spaces; Tourism as an agent of space transformation; General and special tourism planning; Tourism and environmental protection; Acquiring knowledge on all segments of traffic in tourism – specifics of railway, sea, road, river, lake and air traffic; Attraction potential of tourism development of Serbia; Basic characteristics of tourism turnover in Serbia; Tourism regions in Serbia; Places outside mainland tourism regions; Types of tourism in Serbia.
Practical course work
Research methods in tourism geography; The most important emissive regions in the world; The analysis of motif tourism values; Graphic presentation of systems of tourism attractions; The most important receptive regions in the world; The most important directions of tourist flow in the world; Typology of tourism spaces in the world; Material base of tourism development; Graphic presentation of system of tourism planning; Modern tendencies in development of tourism and traffic; Analysis of quantitative indicators of tourism overturn in Serbia; Cartographic representation of tourism regions in Serbia; Cartographic representation of material base of tourism development in Serbia.
Literature
Primary literature
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Чомић, Ђ. Туристичка географија, Висока хотелијерска школа, Београд, 2010. • Штегић, С. Национална туристичка географија, Београд, 2004. • Штегић, С. Географија туризма, Београд, 2003.
Additional literature
• Мариноски, Н., Туристичка географија , Факултет за туризам и угоститељство, ЦНИР, Охрид, 2002.
Total number of active teaching classes	Lectures: 30		Practical course work: 30
Teaching methods
Lectures; practice classes, presentation of good examples of professional practice, case studies, preparation and presentation of term papers.
Evaluation (maximum points 100)
Pre-exam activities	points	Finam exam	points
Active participation in lecture classes	5	Written exam

Active participation in practical course work	5	Oral exam	45
Colloquium	30
Term papers	15		